2015 Sales in Million Dollars
In the last six years (2009-2016), the global power supply industry experienced significant ups and downs beyond the normal peaks and valley of a business cycle creating significant uncertainty. This uncertainty is the result of significant globalization (an event in one region creating a significant impact on the other region), emergence of dynamic markets (mobile devices like mobile phones and tablets replacing laptop and desktop computers) and emergence of software/service businesses (Google, Facebook, Twitter etc.). In addition, new paradigm in adapter markets has emerged, that they can be sold directly to end customers at higher prices. With increasing popularity of mobile devices, this additional profitable market is increasing. In summary, power supply market dynamics is changing, with relatively flat established markets, high growth LED market and emerging end user market. All these three markets offer unique opportunities for power supply companies.

This Global Switching Power Supply Industry 2016 Report provides a comprehensive analysis of the changing dynamics within the power supply industry. It provides a quantitative measure and qualitative analysis. The analysis is provided at the “Global Level” because regional-level business transactions are indeterminate. The power supply business has become global, especially for multinational power supply manufacturers (PSMs) and their OEM customers. For example, PSMs tend to design power supplies in one location (Americas), manufacture them in another (APAC: China) and then market/sales them in a third region (EMEA). For large companies, globalization has blurred the market lines between different regions. However, the power supply industry also consists of many small companies that manufacture and sell their products in their “native regions.” For them, the regional markets are more important than the global markets. The report provides information on both types of markets for both types of companies.

Power supplies are a unique commodity with multiple user/marketing/sales parameters. So power supply data can be organized in many different combinations of different parameters creating a massive database. Here are examples of power supplies in various possible data organizations:

- Products: AC-DC & DC-DC
  - Regions: Americas, EMEA, APAC & Rest of World
  - Markets: LED, CON, COE, NTE, IND, MED, TRN & MIL
  - Output Power: 0-50W... or 0-150W... depending upon the product
  - Product Types; Standard, modified-standard & custom
  - Output Voltages: 1.2VDC; 2.5VDC; 3.3VDC; 5.0VDC; 12VDC; 24VDC; 28VDC; 48VDC...
  - Input Voltages: AC-DC: Universal input; DC-DC: 48VDC; 28VDC; 24VDC; 12VDC; 5VDC...
  - Output Current: DC-DC: 5A; 10A; 20A; 30A; 40A; 50A...
  - Product Design/Packaging: DC-DC: Isolated; non-isolated; VRMs...
  - Packaging: AC-DC: 3x5; 5x7; 1U; 2U...
  - Packaging: DC-DC: HB; QB; 1/8" B; SIP...

With all these combinations, it is impossible to provide market size and trends for all possible applications and all possible product categories. Micro-Tech Consultants (MTC) has provided data and analysis for the most commonly used and most significant categories.
